RECORD BREAKING CROWD SEES NEW YORKS BEAT PITTSBURGS.

Announced Attendance Is 31,500-Brooklyns Give the Cincinnatis a Setback -Bostons Beaten by the Chicagos, and St. Louis Wins From Philadelphia.

The New York Nationals did themselves proud yesterday before an immense crowd and vanquished the Pittsburgs. The Chicagos improved their hold on second place by win-ning from Boston, St. Louis downed Philadelphia, and Brooklyn gave Cincinnati a setback. Results of yesterday's games:

little complaint.

"Here, you're crowding my lady friend," exclaimed a tall man in the crowd at the entrance to another man.

"I don't see any adornments on you for Torbearance," was the retort. "Just be a little reasonable, and you'll be all right."

Just then an opening formed in the mass and both men forzot all about their acrid conversation in their eagerness to get up to the entrance. By closing the big gate at the main entrance at intervals the police were able to regulate the rush for admittance better.

able to regulate the rush for admittance better.

There were many standing back of the seats in the upper and lower tiers of the grand stand. For persons to have to stand in the upper tiers is unusual and gives an idea of the size of the multitude, for multitude it was and recalled the old football days at Manhattan Field. Camp chairs were brought into requisition, and occupants of these sat ten deep in front of the grand stand, beginning at the right end and extending to the home team's bench.

Many also sat on the grass in front of the right field bleachers, and there was a semicircle of onlookers behind the outfield ropes all the way across the field.

In the 25-cent seats the people were packed so thickly that the crowd appeared to be forced upward in the centre of the stand. Never shippers.

But the patrons of this roost for once outfield was soon cleared. Aisles, railings at the back of the bleachers and the score board platform furnished vantage points for some. All told, the attendance put all opening day and holiday gatherings on this field in the shade.

The display of interest in baseball, as manifested by the size of the concourse that witnessed the game, was a matter of greater moment than the game itself. The surrounding thousands saw the Champions humbled, and humbled rather easily. The Pittsburgs played without their customary finish and confidence. On the other hand, the New Yorks played sharply and with determination and they worked every point of the game oleverly and smoothly.

Old stager Bill Kennedy and his younger compeer. Christy Mathewson, both good big crowd pitchers, faced the opposing batters, and Mathewson bore off the paim. He really had the Pirates where he wanted them, while Kennedy was hit hard at opportune times, and the New Yorks mixed up their batting on him skilfully. McGann being out of the game with boils on his leg, Bresnahan played first base, and he and Warner were major generals with the willow. Bresnahan batted in three runs.

The first hit of the game was made by Browne in the first inning, good running landing him at first ahead of Ritchey's throw.

In three runs.

The first hit of the game was made by Browne in the first inning, good running landing him at first ahead of Ritchey's throw. But Phelps, who threw superbly to bases, nailed Browne stealing. Clarke made a fine catch of Bresnahan's bold bid for a hit, and Van Haltren foul-filed to Bransfield. The third inning woke the crowd up to gladsome shouts. Gilbert bunted and was safe at first. Warner likewise fooled the Pittsburg infield by "buntation" and he was safe.

Mathewson sacrificed neatly, but Browne forced Gilbert on the plate on his grounder to Ritchie, the latter making a beautiful pick-up. Bresnahan hit to right for three bases, scoring Warner and Browne, and Van Haltren singled through the air over Ritchie, scoring Bresnahan. A fine double play of rare design kept the New Yorks from scoring in the fourth inning. Mertes was on third and Lauder on second, when Gilbert sent a grounder to feach. Lilliputian Tommy gathered the ball in, like the artist he is, and shot it home.

Mertes started back for third base. Lauder grounder to fleach. Lilliputian Tommy gathered the ball in, like the artist he is, and shot it home.

Mertes started back for third base. Lauder meanwhile had run to that station, but seeing Mertes returning stepped off the base. Phelps had thrown the ball to Wagner, who tagged Lauder and then ran over and tagged Mertes, Mertes having run out on to foul ground from third base. In Pittsburg's half of the next inning Van Haltren earned a V. H. C. for a spectacular catch. He ran in on a fly, caught the ball low, then juggled it and then clutched it with viselike grip. Warner's hit to right. Mathewson's sacrifice and Bresnahan's double to left gave New York a run in this inning.

The New Yorks scored twice in the seventh. Lauder beat out an infield hit, and Gilbert eacrificed. A foul tip split Phelps's finger and he gave way to Smith. The first thing Smith did was to let a third strike on Mathewson elude him, and Mathewson took first base, Warner going tothird. Browne hit to Ritchey but the throw to the plate was slow, and Warner scored. Smith's poor throw to second to catch Browne allowed Mathewson to score.

Lauder bunted in the eighth inning, moved up on Gilbert's out and, sprinting like an antelope, reached the plate when Warner hit to Bransfield. Warner was safe, as nobody covered first base.

Leach's single, an out and Kennedy's single gave the Pittsburgs a run in the eighth inning. Bresnahan musfed Mathewson's assist in the ninth inning and Sebring was safe. He was forced by Bransfield. Addouble by Leach and Bransfield. Smith struck out, and in another moment the field was swarming with rejoicing rooters.

The presence of the strong Cincinnati red legs seemed to inspire the Brooklyns to better ball than they have been supplying lately and they took the Reds in to camp very neatly yesterday at Washington Park The game was well contested, both pitchers receiving good support, but the Brooklyns were the handlest with their bats. They not only hit the ball with precision and force, but did as consecutively and at the right time. Hanlon shook up his batting order a trifle and the change bore pleasing results. Dobbe made his first appearance with the home team. CINCINNATI. BROOKLYN.

Beaten First by Travis in Three Matches at Garden City-Metropolitan and Philadelphia Teams at Merion-Englewood Beats Yale on Home Links.

Hugh Mac Niel, amateur golf champion of Australia and twice holder of the same title in New Zealand, safled for Eng-land yesterday. He has passed a week in this city and had some golfing at St. Andrews and Garden City, and, but for a business summons, he would have stayed over for the open tournament at St. Andrews next week. Mac Niel had three matches with to meet as they have many mutual friends in the Antipodes, for the latter was born there and is the American agent of an Australian firm. Travis had the better of the three thirty-six-hole meetings, for he won them all, the first by 7 up and 8 to play, Travis going out in the morning in 34; the second by 5 and 4, and in the third, in which Travis conceded odds of three holes, Mac Niel was 7 down, with 6.

The games, from an athletic standpoint were a big success, as the performances of all the boys were far above the standard. Dwight School athletes again showed to the front and carried off the handsome trophy cup by the score of 27½ points. J. T. Ellingwood, captain of the team, won the individual cup by securing two firsts. Filingwood cantered home a winner in both the one-quarter and mile runs without anyapparent effort, and his time for the former was 54 seconds.

In the 880-yard run, novice, a big field started. The tussie was between Hamilton of the High School of Commerce and Beattie of Morris High School. Both these boys ran shoulder to shoulder late the stretch, the High School of Commerce boy winning in the fast time of 2 minutes 9.3-5 seconds.

Both the midget and interscholastic relay races turnished plenty of entertainment for the spectators, especially the midgets, the little tots performing in noble style.

COLUMBIA DEFEATS PRINCETON

but Local University Proves Strong in Seconds and Thirds-De Witt Makes Collegiate Record With Hammer.

After successive victories over Cornell and Pennsylvania in baseball and lacrosse, and Pennsylvania in baselian and accessive Columbia took Princeton into camp yesterday at South Field, on the track and field, and won by a score of 58% points to 45%. The local team captured six firsts in thirteen events, but piled up seconds and thirds until there was no doubt of victory. Beginning with seven points out of eight in the mile run, the first event, Columbia took the lead and never lost it during the afternoon.

The star performance of the afternoon was De Witt's hammer throw of 185 feet 9 inches, which breaks the former collegiate record, held by A. Plaw of the University of California, by 8½ inches. The big Princetonian broke the record on his first throw.

The uniformity of his performances was shown when he made 163 feet 10 inches on his second throw and 164 feet 8 inches on his third. De Witt also succeeded in putting the shot 43 feet 61/2 inches although he was not hard pushed to win.

There were a number of upset calculations throughout the meet. Adsit, Princeton's star half miler was beaten by Taylor of Columbia after a beautiful race with Bishop of Columbia, right at the second man's shoulder. Taylor was in fourth place after a quarter mile had been covered and was third eighty yards from the tape. He had the outside path and gritting his teeth came down the stretch as fresh as a sprinter, opening up three yards on Adsit and winning in 2 minutes 3-5 of a second. In a half dozen yards more

Bishop would have stepped into second of a second. In a half dozen yards more Bishop would have stepped into second place.

Harold Weekes ended his athletic career at Columbia in brilliant style by winning both the sprints. When the score stood 50½ to 37½ in Columbia's favor Weekes asked a bystander how much Columbia needed to win the meet. He was told two points. His reply was a laconic "All right" and he took his mark for the 220 flat. He got off well at the pistol shot and was never headed, with Phelan of Princeton, who was thought to be dangerous, at least six yards back at the finish. Leventritt, the former schoolboy champion ran second to Weekes in both events and in addition won the broad jump with 21 feet 7½ inches. Columbia took all three places in the 440 yard run, her men taking the lead at the start and finishing strong. All three ran under 51 2-5 seconds. Tooker's easy victory in the high jump at 5 feet 9½ inches showed that he is a man to be reckoned with in the intercollegiate games. In the broad jump five men'covered 21 feet or better, which is a rather unusual record in a dual meet. Columbia taking the first two places.

The two-mile run was a pretty race. Eisele of Princeton and Langles of Columbia ran shoulder to shoulder for nine laps out of ten. On the bell lap the Princeton man jumped in the lead and Langles was pretty well played out. Fulton and McDonald, Columbia's other runners came tearing after the Princeton land third places. Columbia took 10½ second places out of 13 and 7½ thirds.

One-Mile Run—Won by Angus S. McDonald Columbia; Fancies D. O'Connell, Columbia, second

NO SHAMROCK TRIALS.

GOUROCK, May 16 .- Although the wind had dropped to a slight squall, which was accompanied by showers, the Shamrock III. did not go out for a trial to-day. Sir Thomas Lipton said he did not care to risk accidents to the sails or spars on the last day that the new boat could have a trial here. The Shamrock III. and the Shamrock I. were towed to Greenock this afternoon. They will begin preparations at once for outfitting for the passage across the At-here from America to-day. FAST TIME BY A JUNIOR.

Columbia Beaten by Half a Length in Race on Lake Whitney.

New Haven, May 16.—On Lake Whitney this afternoon over a course one mile and an eighth the Yale freshman crew defeated the Columbia freshman crew in an exciting race by helf a boat's length. The race was a very even one and had not Seymour at No. 6 in the Columbia crew caught a crab near the finish the race would have been in doubt uuntil the finish line was crossed.

At 3:45 the crews were sent off to a beautiful start. Columbia caught the water slightly in the lead and, rowing about 36 to the minute, sent their shell along at a fast clip. The Yale youngsters rowed 34 to the minute and at the half-mile were half a length to the bad.

At this point Columbia raised her stroke to 38, but could not shake off the Yale men At the bridge, a quarter of a mile from the finish, Stroke Whitney of the Yale freshman, called on his men and in a well timed spurt cut down Columbia's lead and when the two crews straightened out for the last stretch both bonts were dead level. From this point to the finish it was only a question of endurance, and here the superior weight of the Yale crew began to tell. The Yale crew crept up and passed the Columbia just as No. 6 in the Columbia boat was beginning to faiter, and then caught a crab which nearly knocked him out of the boat. Yale crossed the line a winner by half a boat's length in the good time of 6 minutes 40 2-5 seconds. The make-up of the crews was as follows:

Columbia—Post, stroke: Miller, 7: Seymour, 6: Rich, Si Merrit 4; Greef, 8: Williard, 7: Hollister, how.

Yale—Whitney, stroke: Morse, 7: McMahon, 6: shase, 5: Whilder, 4: Swenson, 3: H. Scott, 2: He's. Ccher, bow.

The other events at the Yale spring regatts which followed furnished some exciting finishes. In the final for the interclass championship three crews started, freshman junior and sophomore. At the half mile the freshmen were leading, but nearing the finish the juniors cut down the lead and both crews went at it "nip and tuck" all the way to the finish the juniors cut down the lead and both crews went at it "nip and tuck" all the way to the finish down the good under the conditions, a strong head wind being enoountered down the course. The race between two four-oared crews was seconds for the seven-eighths of a mile, was very good under the conditions, a strong head wind being enoountered down the finish the race would have been in doubt uuntil the finish line was crossed.
